They propose to so amend the bill as to make it effective, if possible, to stop the gambling transactions in options, but to permit futures. The phraseology of the measure which will accomplish this has not yet been decided a great deal of trouble. One thing that may be relied upon is that the committee will do their best to correct anything in the bill which might interfere with legitimate business, though, in interfere with legitimate business, though, in endeavoring to do this, they might detract from the effectiveness of the measure.

INVESTIGATING BANK FAILURES. The banking and currency committee has never yet done anything in connection with the nvestigation of the Keystone and other national bank failures which was authorized by the House. Mr. Mutchler has been ready to pro-ceed with the investigation at any time and the greater part of the testimony is easily accessi-ble, but the chairman of the committee, Mr. Bacon, has been in poor health and has been in Florida for about two weeks. He is expected back today to take part in the meeting of his committee to hear an argument by Representative Walker of Massachusetts in favor of his general banking bill. It is expected that Mr. Bacon will be able to take hold of the work Mr. Bacon will be able to take hold of the work of the committee again now and that the investigation will be begun within a few days. Some very interesting disclosures are expected to result from this investigation, and if nothing else comes of it it will probably lead to some amendments to the laws regulating national banks which will perfect the system of government scrutiny and control, so as to make the long continuation of peculations and frauds more difficult than at present. There may be some attempt made to get political capital out of the Keystone failure, but the question is one of too much seriousness to admit of much side play of that sort. The number of bank failures during the past twelve months has been so large and some of them of such a serious character that it is felt to be a matter of the greatest im-

An Interesting Passage of Words Between Mr. Turner and Ex-Speaker Reed. After THE STAR's report of the proceedings of the House closed yesterday speeches were made on the tariff by Messrs. Turner of Georgia, Reed of Maine and Patterson of Tennessee.

against the insignificance of this bill and those which were to follow he joined in that denunciation. He would have been glad to have had pending a bill which would sweep the whole horizon and give to every citizen that compensation which a fair and just reform of the tariff would give to every consumer in the country. His judgment in this respect had country. His judgment in this respect had been overruled by those to whose opinion he deferred with great respect, and it was due to those gentlemen that he should say that they sincerely believed that their policy would enable the majority of the House to secure for the people some slight relief from the burden of taxation.

Mr. Turner turned his attention to a criticism of Speaker Reed's ruling in the last Congress, denying that the recent decision of the Supreme Court had vindicated those rulings.

It adopted the republican national platform of 1888, indorsed the acts of the Fifty-first Congress and the administration of President Harrison.

After the resolution had been read ex-Congressma White of the twelfth district took exception to the resolution indorsing Harrison, self as he should there would have been no opposition at this time.

paid into the treasury to the manufacturers a sum equal to the value of every sheep in the United States.

Mr. Reed, rising to reply to the criticism made upon him and his rulings in the last Congress, expressed the opinion that his action at that time had been thoroughly vindicated by the decision of the Supreme Court. The question was whether he had violated his duty in counting members present who were in the chamber. Never before the decision of the court had any admission been made that it was a present quorum and not an acting quorum that was demanded by the Constitution. The gentleman from Georgia himself had in his speech today admitted that this was correct.

When the gentleman had quoted against him a statement he had made twelve years ago and asked whether it was that statement or his rula statement he had made tweive years ago and asked whether it was that statement or his rul-ings in the last Congress that had been upheld by the Supreme Court, the gentleman showed only that he did not comprehend the decision of the court.

Mr. Turner replied that the gentleman from Maine had occupied both sides of the question, and had been wrong on both sides. [Democratic

Mr. Turner said that he had always had the highest respect for the gentleman from Maine. He had differed from the gentleman in his administration of the chair, but in criticising this administration he had no intention of offending the gentleman.

Helman's presidential aspirations.

The illness which Judge Holman has been suffering from is not of a serious nature at all, and, in fact, amounts to no more than a slight indisposition, which his age warrants him in attending to. Mr. Helman is past seventy years old and is not as strong as he was a few years ago, but he is still a very active man and his ambition is yet unsatisfied. It is not generally known, but Mr. Holman has presidential aspirations which he has suddenly come to the conclusion may be gratified. The Kalser Confined to Bed. Emperor William is confined to his bed. His physicians say that he is suffering from a slight cold.

Every one suffers from Catarrh in the Head. Those who don't have it suffer from those who do. It's a disease you can't keep to yourself.

Here are some of the symptoms: Headache, obstruction of nose, discharges falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid, and offensive; eyes weak, ringing in cars, deafness; offensive breath; smell and taste impaired, and general deblity. Only a few of these likely to be present at once. The cure for it—for Catarrh itself, and all the troubles that come from it—a perfect and permanent cure, is Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. The worst cases yield to its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties. A record of twenty-five years has proved that to its proprietors—and they're willing to prove it to you.

DENTISTRY. DR. BLAIR, 212 IND. AVE. N.W.—FILLING A specialty; 15 years' experience; teeth filled absolutely without pain; gold, 82; silver, $1; gas administered; open Sundays. THE EVANS DENTAL PARLORS, 1217 Penn. ave. n.w. Our specialties, CROWN AND BRIDGE WORK OR TEETH WITH-CROWN AND BRIDGE WORK OR TEETH WITH-OUT PLATES.

Teeth that have decayed and broken away may be operated upon by this system; crowns entrafted upon the roots given a new lease of life and made as good and serviceable in every way as natural ones. To be a success an artificial crown must be so constructed that it shall permanently arrest decay at the broken end of the root and strong enough to prevent splitting of the root or breaking loose from its attachments. We claim that our crowns have all these requirements, and when combined with bridge work, which consists in supplying teeth that have been extracted, makes the most beautiful and durable appliance ever devised as a substitute for the natural teeth; all this without a plate to cover the roof of the mouth. The advancement in dentistry has been great in the last few years. We have kept pace with these improvements and the patients of the Eyans Fariors are assured of receiving the benefit of these, practiced and applied in the most skillful and artistic manner. Our prices for this class of work will be found as reasonable as is consistent with first-class work and best materials. We perform all operations pertaining to our profession. Fine gold fillings, artificial teeth on gold, platins, rubber and rubber lined with gold. Extracting without pain. mh2-3m
